About... Newtons and PC Cards

Introduction:

This document provides information about using an Apple Newton product with a Global Village PC Card modem.

The Apple Newton portable computers are not supported with Global Village modems. Because of very little demand no specific software drivers have been produced for the modems currently.

However, just because Global Village does not support the use of our PC Cards with Newtons, that does not limit its capabilities. It only means that Technical Support will not have the solutions to any issues that may arise when the software/hardware is being used, because it was not designed for such operations. Apple may provide technical support for Newtons when used with Global Village PC Cards.

NOTE: We are aware for certain that Newtons cannot function with Global Village modem/ethernet (combo) PC Cards.
